

How you know whether it

Correspondence

Truth is correspondence to reality.

- This says that a statement is true in as much as it corresponds to reality.
- Thus, the statement 'It is raining.'

'It is raining'

would be a true statement if it is in fact raining in reality.

'It is raining'

would be a false statement if it is in fact not raining in reality.

Aristotle
(384-322 BC)

"To say of what is, that it is not, or of what is not, that it is, is false, while to say of what is, that it is and of what is not, that it is not, is true."

“Thus although truth and falsehood are properties of beliefs, yet they are in a sense extrinsic properties, for the condition of the truth of a belief is something not involving beliefs, or (in general) any mind at all, but only the objects of the belief. A mind, which believes, believes truly when there is a corresponding complex not involving the mind, but only its objects. This correspondence ensures truth, and its absence entails falsehood.”

Correspondence Theory of Truth

"To avoid a confusion that runs through philosophical controversies about truth it must be remembered that the correspondence theory of truth is not itself a test of truth. It merely states the definition of truth—what it is. This underlies all empirical and pragmatic tests of truth. ..."

"The logical test of truth, such as coherence or the absence of intrinsic contradiction in a theory, do not presuppose the realist's definition of truth as agreement or conformity of our thinking with the way things, in fact, are. That is why idealists tend to define truth entirely in terms of coherence."

What does it mean to

Truth is when a proposition

But there are a number of ways that a proposition can correspond to reality.

Literally

"And as He walked by the Sea of Galilee, He saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the sea; for they were fishermen."

Mark 1:16

Allegory

"But he who was of the bondwoman was born according to the flesh, and he of the freewoman through promise, which things are symbolic. ..." Gal. 4:23-24a

ἀλληγορούμενα
(allēgoroumena)

Metaphor

"For you shall go out with joy, and be led out with peace ... and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands."

Isa 55:12

Simile

"So his heart and the heart of his people were moved as the trees of the woods are moved with the wind."

Isa 7:2

Analogy

"For we walk by faith, not by sight."

2 Cor. 5:7

Symbol

"... the Holy Spirit indicating this, that the way into the Holiest of All was not yet made manifest while the first tabernacle was still standing. It was symbolic for the present time in which both gifts and sacrifices are offered which cannot make him who performed the service perfect in regard to the conscience—" Heb. 9:7-9

παραβολή
(parabolē)

Hyperbole

"Now the Midianites and Amalekites, all the people of the East, were lying in the valley as numerous as locusts; and their camels were without number, as the sand by the seashore in multitude." Judges 7:12

Phenomenologically

"... for He makes His sun rise on the evil and on the good, ..."Matt. 5:45

Phenomenologically

"The sun shall be turned into darkness, And the moon into blood, Before the coming of the great and awesome day of the LORD." Joel 2:31

Informally

"... All who were numbered according to their armies of the forces were six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty." Num. 2:32

"And Moses said, 'The people whom I am among are six hundred thousand men on foot; ...'" Num. 11:21

Synecdoche

"Give us this day our daily bread." Matt. 6:11

Metonymy

"For it happened, when David was in Edom, and Joab the commander of the army had gone up to bury the slain, after he had killed every male in Edom" 1 Kings 11:15

Metonymy

"After these things Jesus and His disciples came into the land of Judea, and there He remained with them and baptized." John 3:22

"Therefore, when the Lord knew that the Pharisees had heard that Jesus made and baptized more disciples than John (though Jesus Himself did not baptize, but His disciples)," John 4:1-2

Metonymy

And when John had heard in prison about the works of Christ, he sent two of his disciples {3} and said to Him, "Are You the Coming One, do we look for another?" {4} Jesus answered and said to them, "Go and tell John the things which you hear and see:" Matthew 11:2-4

Notice that two went to speak to Jesus.

Yet the verb here is singular meaning that the two were speaking for Jesus as if it was Jesus Himself doing the talking.

Metonymy

"The centurion answered and said, 'Lord, I am not worthy that You should come under my roof. ...'"

Matt. 8:8

"... the centurion sent friends to Him, saying to Him, 'Lord, do not trouble Yourself, for I am not worthy that You should enter under my roof.'"

Luke 7:6

Metonymy

"After these things Jesus and His disciples came into the land of Judea, and there He remained with them and baptized." John

3:22

"Therefore, when the Lord knew that the Pharisees had heard that Jesus made and baptized more disciples than John (though Jesus Himself did not baptize, but His disciples)," John 4:1-2

Ways a Proposition Can Correspond to Reality

What about the other theories of truth?

Coherence

Coherence

➤ Definition: A statement is true when it coheres with or is consistent with a body of other statements.

"Either we must be skeptics about the knowledge of things as they exist independently, or we must maintain that true knowledge of such entities is possible by the systematic correlation of our various experiences into a self-consistent whole."

Stuart C. Hackett
(1925-2012)

"Since ... skepticism is self-contradictory, the second alternative will necessarily be maintained. But the theory that the test of truth consists in such a systematic consistency of ideas is a logically coherent whole is precisely the coherence theory of truth."

[The Resurrection of Theism: Prolegomena to Christian Apology, 2nd ed. (Grand Rapids: Baker, 1982), 38]

Stuart C. Hackett
(1925-2012)

" Since the position involves epistemological dualism, it necessitates an espousal of the coherence theory of truth."

[The Resurrection of Theism: Prolegomena to Christian Apology, 2nd ed. (Grand Rapids: Baker, 1982), 38]

Stuart C. Hackett
(1925-2012)

"Epistemological dualism is the doctrine that the immediate object present to the mind is not the independently existing reality—say a box or what have you—but a representative idea of this object. All the mind knows directly are its ideas and nothing else."

[The Resurrection of Theism: Prolegomena to Christian Apology, 2nd ed. (Grand Rapids: Baker, 1982), 38]

Stuart C. Hackett
(1925-2012)

Coherence

- Definition: A statement is true when it coheres with or is consistent with a body of other statements.
- Truth cannot merely be coherence because by this theory, even a fairy tale could be "true."
- Every theory of truth, including coherence, requires the correspondence theory of truth to define itself.

Functional

Functional

- Definition: A statement is true in as much as it fulfills its intended purpose.
- It is sometimes known as the intentional theory of truth.
- Truth cannot be merely function because it needs the correspondence theory to define itself.

Pragmatic

- Definition: A statement is true in as much as it works or is practical.
- The pragmatic theory gives rise to the notion that something can be "true for you but not true for me."

Richard Rorty
(1931-2007)

"Philosophy is "edifying discourse" the purpose of which is "finding new, better, more interesting, more fruitful ways of speaking" and "to keep the conversation going rather than to find objective truth."

[Richard Rorty, Philosophy and the Mirror of Nature (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1979), 360, 377, as cited in William F. Lawhead, The Voyage of Discovery: An Historical Introduction to Philosophy, 2nd ed., (Belmont, Wadsworth/Thomson Learning, 2002), 563]

"But we will certainly do whatever has gone out of our own mouth, to burn incense to the queen of heaven and pour out drink offerings to her, as we have done, we and our fathers, our kings and our princes, in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem."

✿ Jeremiah 44:17-18 ✿

"For then we had plenty of food, were well-off, and saw no trouble. But since we stopped burning incense to the queen of heaven and pouring out drink offerings to her, we have lacked everything and have been consumed by the sword and by famine."

Pragmatic

- Definition: A statement is true in as much as it works or is practical.
- The pragmatic theory gives rise to the notion that something can be "true for you but not true for me."
- Every theory of truth, including pragmatic, requires the correspondence theory of truth to define itself.

Power

- Definition: Discussions and disputes over truth are fundamentally struggles over political power.
- Social elements justify their control over and suppression of others elements in society by framing their political status as being grounded in objective truths about reality.

Sharon Crasnow

"Feminist standpoint theory is one of three alternatives to traditional philosophy of science proposed by Sandra Harding in her 1986 The Science Question in Feminism. Feminist standpoint theory has its roots in Marxism and takes as a starting point the idea that people in different social/political locations (different classes in its Marxist version) sometimes have access to information that those in more socially/politically privileged positions do not."

FEMINIST STANDPOINT THEORY

"The standpoint theory is a post modernistic approach on people's perception. It states how the day-to-day experience alters or influences a person's opinions."

Generally, a standpoint arises when people recognize the value of power which creates different groups within society. The standpoint theory focuses on gender perception and gives attention to feminist viewpoints."

[<https://www.communicationtheory.org/the-standpoint-theory/>, accessed 07/14/25]

One should ask "when people recognize the value of power which creates different groups within society" whether their recognition and "opinions" are themselves altered by their own "day-to-day experience".

If the answer is 'no', then standpoint theory is not true.

If the answer is 'yes', then why should anyone take their recognition and opinions to be objectively the case?

Even when one feels nearest to other people, something in one seems obstinately to belong to God and to refuse to enter into any earthly communion – at least that is how I should express it if I thought there was a God. It is odd isn't it? I care passionately for this world, and many things and people in it, and yet . . . what is it all? There must be something more important, one feels, though I don't believe there is. I am haunted – some ghost, from some extra-mundane region, seems always trying to tell me something that I am to repeat to the world, but I cannot understand the message.

The outcome is that one is a ghost, floating through the world without any real contact.
